Form I-730: refugee and asylee relative petition records

What makes I-730 family-petition research different from an ordinary relative petition?

I-730 is the refugee or asylee relative petition within the specific framework described by USCIS. The petitioner's underlying grant or admission, family relationship and chronology matter to the research. Do not substitute the I-130 framework or infer qualification from a family label alone.

Check the boxes on screen or by hand. Use the notes area for records to find and questions to ask.

Your preparation checklist

- ☐ Identify the principal admission or grant record.
- ☐ Separate application dates from actual agency decisions.
- ☐ Index family relationships with genuine source records.
- ☐ Read I-730 instructions independently of I-130.
- ☐ Keep sensitive family information private.
